HE BUILT HIS OWN GALLONS.

Tailor Klein's Wife Cut Him Down Before Life Was Extinct.He Saw Only Starvation Ahead and Preferred Quick Death.

William Klein, thirty-five years old, attempted suicide at his home, 112 Sheriff street, early today by hanging. He is married and the father of six children.

Klein was a tailor and for eleven months ago made a living at his trade. He ran a needle into his right hand and blood poisoning set in, incapacitating him for doing any more tailoring.

The family were in danger of starving to death, and friends got together and a few months ago started a little candy store for him in Sheriff street, near Stanton.

He didn't prosper there, and a month ago he moved to his present address, which is one door from a school-house.

He thought the children going to school would patronize his place, and he would be able to get along, but for some reason he did very little business and things went from bad to worse.

Klein grew despondent and the thought of his children starving drove him mad, he saw nothing ahead but trouble and starvation and concluded to end his own life.

Last night he kissed all the children good-by and said he wished he was dead. The children began to cry, and his wife scolded him for talking to them in that way. He said he didn't mean anything by it.

This morning when Mrs. Klein got up her husband was not around. When she looked for him she found him in a bedroom, where he had tried to hang himself.

He had built a gallows of an entirely original design, and must have spent part of the night putting it up.

He had nailed a long strip of wood securely to the wall. From the top of this he suspended a piece of wood about one foot long, under which was raised a support. To this he attached a leather strap, with which he hanged himself. His toes just touched the floor.

He was still breathing when his wife found him, and she cut him down. He was sent to Bellevue Hospital. He may recover.

BAUMANN BROS., OF 14TH ST., are constantly on the alert for something new, for something good, for something that will interest their patrons. To do that we have found this week a manufacturer who made up

380 TURKISH 5-PIECE PARLOR SUITS

"THE CLEVELAND"

and named them in honor of the President, "THE CLEVELAND," in anticipation of a boom in his business. The boom did not materialize, but the date of payment for the material did, and in order to keep afloat had to let them go, and we secured the whole lot for less than cost of the material, and here we let "The Cleverlands" go at cost so as to make things hum for a week. We must sell them this week if possible and here are the prices:

120 Upholstered in Rich Silk Tapestry with Silk Plush
Trimming, all the new shades, for . . . $36.50
156 in fine assortment of Wilton Rugs and Silk Plush
Trimming for . . . $40.00
104 in very handsome Silk Brocatelle, with Silk

An early call is most urgently requested to get the choice of the selection.

SEABOLD IS A CANDIDATE.

Citizens Urge His Name for An-nexed District Commissioner.

James Seabold, Tammany leader of the Twenty-ninth district, is a candidate to succeed the late Leonard. He has been a member of the Board of Street Improvements in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth wards.

A committee of citizens called on Mayor McCarty this morning and presented a petition signed by many business men, favoring Mr. Seabold's nomination.

TRANSVERSE ROAD EXTENSION.

Plans Finally Approved by the Board of Aldermen.

The report of the Board of Aldermen of the Board of Aldermen, favoring the extension of the Transverse road through Central Park at its eastern terminus, was finally forthcoming at the meeting of the Board to-day.

The Park commissioners some time ago granted permission for the extension, but the consent of the Aldermen was necessary. The Board of Aldermen recommended that the extension be made, and the Board of Aldermen, favoring the extension, passed a resolution to that effect.

Two hundred feet of track will have to be laid on Fifth street east of Fifth avenue, and the extension will be made from Fifth avenue to the Transverse road, which will connect with the Transverse road.

The passengers will be transferred at the Madison avenue north of Fifth avenue. Work on the extension will be begun at once.

AN HONEST ADVERTISEMENT.

Furniture houses in advertising often convey the idea that they are selling a cheap quality of furniture, and are hence not successful. In fact the only way to succeed is to sell a high quality of furniture, and to do this you must have a reputation for honesty and integrity. This reputation is gained by selling a high quality of furniture, and by making a statement of the cost of the goods sold. No furniture house can afford to sell at a profit, and hence the customer is assured of getting a high quality of furniture at a low price.
